What is the course about?

The NCFE CACHE Level 2 Certificate in Understanding Behaviour that Challenges is designed to provide you with a comprehensive understanding of the types of behaviours this may include and the possible reasons for the challenging behaviour.

You will develop an understanding of the importance of identifying patterns of behaviours and how to support individuals to implement avoidance tactics. Reflection on your own communication and behaviour and how this may impact on behaviours will form an important part of this course.

It is suitable for anyone working or looking to work with individuals with challenging behaviour, including those in education, healthcare, and social care.

Why should I choose the course?

Choosing this course will help you develop a deep understanding of behaviours that challenge, which is increasingly relevant in education. The qualification is ideal for those who want to develop their skills and knowledge in supporting individuals with behaviour that challenges and make a real difference in their lives. It provides an opportunity to improve career prospects, increase employability, and enhance personal knowledge and skills.

What will I learn?

The course is made up of four units:

- ? Understand behaviour that challenges
- ? Understand how to support positive behaviour
- ? Understand the importance of effective communication and the management of behaviour that challenges
- ? Understand the role of reflection and support for those involved in incidents of behaviour that challenge

The course is delivered online through Google Classroom by an experienced tutor.

The units will be assessed through written assignments and tasks and completion of an electronic workbook for each unit.
