What is the course about?

This part-time next steps art and design course invites you to explore winter landscapes using pastels through hands-on experimentation and exploration of the media and techniques covered in the introduction course or previous pastel courses.

Why should I choose the course?

If you're passionate about art and design and want to improve your skills with expert guidance, this course is ideal. Our well-established art department features experienced tutors who provide supportive teaching in a friendly, welcoming environment. Whether you're new to the subject or looking to deepen your knowledge, you'll find a place here.

What will I learn?

You will be encouraged to express your artistic ideas through the experimentation with winter landscape imagery and pastel techniques. You will produce artwork to take away with you each session.

What will the course lead on to?

On completion of this course, you may be interested in exploring more of our introduction or next steps courses in a range of art and design techniques and processes.

Why should I choose to study the course at Warrington & Vale Royal College?

We always put learning at the centre of all we do. We have dedicated and passionate teaching staff who are practicing artists in their own right. All teaching staff bring a wealth of both industry and educational experience to the department, ensuring that you will have an excellent learning experience with us. We have fully equipped and spacious studios and a dedicated art technician to further support you during your time with us.

What are the entry requirements?

There are no entry requirements besides a genuine interest in art and design.
